CORN AND ENSILAGE

It is a mistaken idea that any kind of corn will make good Ensilage. One might as well expect any sort of beet or carrot to be equally good for table and stock feeding. While then it is of great consequence to have a maximum yield of stalks (and that result can only be had from the Giant Dent Varieties) excellent quality of Ensilage can only be obtained from the Early Ripening Varieties of these. Some of the Improved Dent Varieties are now just about as early as the Flint Varieties and some of them should always be used. Reb-cob, although a splendid yielding variety, is, in the average Canadian season, too late in forming a good ear.

DENT VARIETIES

- New White Cap Yellow—Matures three weeks earlier than Red cob, grows heavy leafy stalks, the lower leaves keeping long green, and while the ears are as large as any of the Dent Varieties, they are more numerous and much fuller at the points.... Bushel, 90c.
- Champion White Pearl—This variety has given very great satisfaction. It is a medium early White Dent variety, of blanching habit and profuse foliage, and produces large sized ears.... Bushel, 90c.
- Bloody Butcher—A new variety of great merit. A strong, vigorous variety with immense ears..... Bushel, $1.00.
- King of the Earlyies—Is one of the earliest Dent varieties. Bush., 85c.
